“Boyd was my brother and lived with us for many years. He was always such a neat and tidy person. I remember his taking me to a carnival when I was a child. I also remember that, on weekends, he would buy ice cream; and we would all go to his brother's house and enjoy it with all of my nieces and nephews. My personality was like his of all of my brothers quiet and reserved. I live out of state so I couldn't visit him as often as I would have liked. As Christians, we know that we will see each other again.
