“ She will be sorely missed, she was a great pillar for the women to follow in her foot steps and learn from. She was always there with a greeting no matter how she felt, and she carried on her work at the Camp Ground and around the Church for as long as the Lord allowed her to. We love you and will miss you till we meet again.

“ Sister Carolyn always had a hug and a smile ready no matter how she was feeling. I want to be an example just like her that overcame obstacles by tackling them in faith instead of tiptoeing around them in fear. I loved our shopping trips and her fashion sense. We shared memories of my Mother and times of the camp meetings. She will so be missed.

Prayers to the family.

“ Sis. Carolyn was a fine example for us all to follow. She showed love and compassion, and was known to reach out to others with any need. She also had quite the taste in fashion, and could make peanut butter buckeyes better than anyone. I know that at times she would claim to have bought something and then didn't like it so she would give to someone, when more often than not she went out looking for something for that person specifically, who may not take it if they knew. So many times she would just come and give me a hug and whisper to me without me even saying what was going on in my life-yet she knew just what I needed to hear. I will miss my friend dearly.

“ We appreciate the kind of friend she was for Sis. Ethel Sowders. The two became quite close in the last few years of Sis. Ethel's life. I hope the two are sharing stories together now. May God be close to the family.

“ Carolyn was a beautiful, gracious lady and child of God. She worked tirelessly for the church as long as she could. I admired the way she kept going, working as church secretary, even after her doctor told her that her health outlook was so poor. I never heard her complain. She always had a smile and a kind word. People sometimes teased her about her shoes and her love of shopping; but, she knew how to find a bargain and loved to take friends with her. I was privileged to be one of those friends. Carolyn always dressed so beautifully. She truly demonstrated how a woman of God could dress nicely yet modestly. I will miss her; but I will cherish the memories I have of her.
