“ The day of 10th May 2014 is one that we shall always remember with enormous happiness. On that day, Catherine and Rik sealed their union in a lovely ceremony in our back yard in Southampton, England, attended by family members and friends. Both were in the finest attire, Rik looking so handsome in a perfectly cut suit and Catherine as beautiful as ever in her white wedding gown. Elizabeth could not have been happier for them. As the ceremony was about to start, however, the heavens suddenly opened and the rain teemed down, as hard as it ever has. Fortunately, Mary, who was conducting the ceremony, called on the four elements of the earth and asked that they bless the couple and “do something about the rain”, so that the ceremony be allowed to proceed as planned, whereupon – lo and behold! – the rain stopped as suddenly as it had begun and the sun shone through unhindered, delighting all of the gathering. It was as if God himself had blessed this lovely couple. The day continued with bright sunshine and a wonderful atmosphere of happiness and love, a most beautiful experience for Catherine and Rik and a truly joyful day for Elizabeth and the rest of us. Our treasured memories of that very special day will remain with us for ever.

“Cat and I bonded over our love for our Ford Mustangs. She had the same exact one---even same color. I used to call her Cat man do when I saw her and we could chat about anything. I will miss her beautiful spirit and our friendship. She is beautiful inside and out. She definitely earned her wings in this life and can now soar through her next adventure without pain. Until we see each other again my friend.
