“ In most folks lives, there are only a handful of people who are of great influence. If you are lucky, they are people closest to you and don't just cross your path, but are there for some time. People you admire. People you love. People from whom you learn, who help mold you into a better version of yourself than you would have been had you not known them. Catherine Duncan was one of those people in my life. If you knew her, you admired her. Tall. Beautiful. Confident. Strong willed. Fiercely loving. She demanded respect and settled for nothing less. She was a fabulous cook and homemaker and, my Lord, how she loved her family. If you ever had the pleasure of going to her home for Thanksgiving, you know she was a magician, serving a multitude of family favorites, with beautiful china and crystal, each dish piping hot and ready at the same time ... all without a hair out of place a feat I have yet to accomplish. My heartfelt sympathy to her beloved family. I am lucky to have known and loved Catherine. I will miss this wonderful woman. Darlene Duncan, Destin, FL
