I never met Charles in person, but Linda told me how perfect he kept his yard and how strangers would stop to ask who did it. Also, he was super popular wherever he went. I know this is a devastating loss.

“ Charles was a good neighbor a great carpenter and a better friend. He was like a Big brother to me. We had so much fun whether going to concerts , gambling or just camping, while taking short trips , Beulah would prepare sausage and biscuits for us to eat when we would leave at four in the morning. I am sure Beulah and Gerald are waiting with open arms for you when you get there. I will miss you.

“ Hope the fishin’ is good up there. I remember I used to buy a new bass bait or new plastic worms every year for you. It was only when I was older that I realized you had practically every bait known and you didn’t even need them. You still acted so happy every time to receive them. Thank you for being a good Papaw to me.
