“ One of the many things that impressed me about Boo was his childlike approach to meeting new people. Watching my 6 year old son, I'm constantly amazed at how he forms new friendships on the playground. Having never met, kids just walk up to each other, smile and ask "Wanna play?". Boo was like that. He could talk to anyone about anything. No pretentiousness, bragging or false fronts - just a genuine interest in other people. In the 42 years that I knew him, I can honestly count on one hand the number of times I saw him angry.
