“ Hi mom. I drove by your house today. Could snag any flowers from the new tenant, still the same one since you died. You died. I still can't believe it. Life's so hard without you so much more lonely. People just move on and live life. Guess that's what your suppose to do. I have a daughter her name is Isabella, i call her Baby Bells :) you'd love her. You always said i'd have a girl, you were right. Sebastian well, he's a shiny star that shines brighter than anything I've ever seen or known. You taught him so much, he's a dream come true everyday. He hasn't forgotten you. Even talked about you today and does often. Don't worry I'll never let him forget you moma. We three amigos mostly stay to ourselves. People don't really call to even say hello like you did. I miss you calling me so much. Mammy helps. She loves the kids and visits and calls us almost daily. It helps so much having her love and friendship esp now. I often wonder where are you where did you go and maybe could you please come back. That night haunts me sometimes derails me but i try to remember you are my mom then, now and always a part of you lives on through me and my blue eyed babies just like you moma. Please watch over us times are hard and it's just so lonely sometimes. I miss you so much it still hurts like really hurts i pray often I ask God to tell you i love you. I do love you. I wish i could tell you in person. You rest in rainbows sweet my mother and one day we will rest in them together. All my love dearest Mother. xxoo

“ Well mom. It’s been 2 years now without you. To say i miss you is a total understatement. My sorrow still cuts deep. I wanna drive to see you or go pick up your medications, get you some diet citrus drop just do anything to see you. Such an empty space i feel without you inside. My heart has found true happiness and i wanna share it with you so bad. I want you to know i found a wonderful man who thinks I’m special. He cares about me and Sebastian. I wish you two could’ve met. I wish many things. I love you moma. So so much and will always will you were still here.

“ Moma i didn’t know this was even here. Hello. Hi. Your birthday is today and you weren’t here i didn’t like it and will never be too fond of this day bc it will make me miss you. I hope you liked your red dress i know you loved your hair and i made sure you had your glasses you are always beautiful to me. My heart hurts so bad. You gave me 20 bucks tonight on your birthday giving me gifts that’s just like you. Please stay close moma and never let me go.

“ I will forever remember and love my sister! The most independent of us all. I know you are now out of the earthly body and all things have been made new in your heavenly body. Our childhood passed so quickly it now seems like a blurr. Jamie and Kelly and boys I will continue to pray to let your hearts mend and find comfort knowing your mom is in heaven. I am always here for you 🥹💔

“ The loss of my dear sweet sister is so very heartbreaking, we hung out alot growing up with our kids and as the kids grew up and I had to work alot and was nervous to drive over to Indiana where she lived, sounds stupid I know and now I will regret that forever but the what ifs or I should have will not matter, she had alot of health issues that stopped her from wanting to leave her home, I know she was lonely alot but her kids and grandsons were her small world. Susie and I stayed close through out our life's and we loved each other very much, just retired as if January and we talked about spending time together with mom but that will never happen now, Susie you will always me in my heart even though it is so broken now, you are with daddy now who I know you missed every single day and his death really scared you deeply, so RIP sister I will miss you and love you more than you will ever know.

My childhood friend, the laughs, the mud pies, the plays and music on your carport, the walks home from school eating crunchy Cheetos, the sneaking off to the construction site! I still remember you saying "I am so proud of myself", after we made matchstick and tile jewelry boxes." I know God is proud of you too, faithful servant. Until we meet again, Kathy Rucker White.

“ Susie was my sweet friend from high school. I loved her like a sister. Life, time and distance separated us. But she will always have a place in my heart. Her beautiful smile and zest for life will remain forever in my memories. The picture her sister shared with me brought tears to my eyes and my heart. It literally melted away the past 40 years and let me feel the youth of our friendship and her sweet laugh as young girls. Life simply hadn't touched us yet we were so innocent.

Sending love and prayers for her family and her beautiful children. Seeing your pictures is like seeing her way back when we were young. May God give you his love and strength in this journey you must now make. And may you continue to feel her in your presence in the times you need her.
