“Darrel Wayne Wallace was a loving father and husband. He raised his kids very well and taught them the importance of inner strength from a young age. He loved the Marine Corps and wanted the best for his kids. After his divorce from my mother he tried his best to spoil us. Oftentimes treating us so well he would tell us the next weekend that he didn't have enough food for himself to get through the week. That's how much he loved his 3 boys. He taught his kids how to shoot and his oldest son Joey was one shot away from making the competitive shooting team in the Air Force. His oldest son was a veteran of Operation New Dawn and spent 4 years in service. His middle child Michael Wayne spent 14 years studying hand to hand combat and had a respectable run in Mixed Martial Arts as well as 1 Gold Medal in a local Brazilian Jiu Jitsu tournament. His youngest son Brandon is a remarkable, hard working and humble young man who has devoted his life to his family and has a close relationship with his mother and his cousins. My father was a great man and with a brilliance that lives on in his children.”
