“ 18 years ago I worked at the Key Market on Woodlawn Ave. I was looking for a record from way back and I decided to give MacNeils' Book store a look. That started a friendship with Denis that I will always look upon and remember with great fondness. I remember walking into his store and he would have big band music on and would be singing, dutifully sorting through books. He was a good man, always friendly towards me and generous too. Sadly I had lost touch with Denis over the years and I am very sad at his passing. My prayers are with him and his family at this trying time. He will always be remembered in my memories. Tonight I will play a Glenn Miller record and reflect on Denis. May you find peace. Your friend Russell..
