“ I've known Dennis over 54 years. Did you know, Dennis saw Elvis at the lake a few times in his blue suede shoes? Did you know he was a very good cook? His fish fry's were the best, and he could make German potato salad better than the Germans. He tried to kill me just a few times while pulling me on the tube behind the boat. Dennis we're sure going to miss you. I know you and Elvis are dancing together, him in his blue suede shoes and you in your duck taped shoes.

Your favorite sister in law Pam Hardesty
(by the way, I had to remind him a million times that I was his favorite)

“ I met Dennis over 25 years ago and I can't think of anyone I have ever met before that made such a good impression on first meeting them. My brother Kevin, who was dating Angie, brought me down to their Lake house. Being that my brother was pretty much the only person I knew I felt a little shy in the moment, but Dennis made quite the impression and made me feel welcome and at ease. Seeing him sitting on his deck, drink in hand and singing Elvis is one of my fondest memories of him. As years have passed and eventually Kevin and Angie got married and had kids, my admiration only grew in seeing him be such a wonderful grandfather with Kevin, Cameron, and Carleigh. I always looked forward to seeing him at family events, graduations, or just simply stopping by to say hello. We always had a place at the table welcome to him and Sandy and we always looked forward to seeing them and catching up. I can truly attest that Dennis was one of the finest men I have ever met. I will miss him and wish sincerest condolences to the Rupp and Veeley families. May God bless Dennis and those whose hearts he had touched.
