

Eddie J. Leffler

November 22, 1971 - May 13, 2026

Eddie J. Leffler, age 54, of Louisville, Kentucky, passed away on May 13, 2026.

Eddie was born on November 22, 1971. He was preceded in death by his mother, Vickie Susan (Perdue) Leffler; his father in every way that mattered, Harvey E. Miller, who raised Eddie and whom Eddie proudly considered his dad; his beloved wife, Michelle L. Leffler; and his infant son, Branden Riedell Leffler.

Eddie's life was marked by both deep love and deep loss. The passing of his son at just a few months old was a heartbreak he carried throughout his life. In the years that followed, he also endured the losses of his father, his wife, and his mother. These losses shaped him in ways many people never fully understood.

Eddie was known for being loud, outspoken, and sometimes difficult to handle. He struggled with alcoholism for many years, and those struggles affected many relationships in his life. He was not a perfect man, and he would likely be the first to admit that. Yet beneath his flaws was a man with a big heart who carried more pain than most people realized. He often pushed people away, not because he didn't care, but because life had taught him how painful it could be to lose the people he loved.

One of the greatest joys of Eddie's life was his grandson, Jordan McIntyre; and his two cousins, Kim Medley and Kristina Perdue. Eddie helped raise Jordan for much of his life and loved him beyond measure. Jordan was his world, his pride, and one of the brightest lights in his life. Their bond was something Eddie cherished deeply.

Though Eddie's life was complicated, he leaves behind memories that cannot be summed up by his struggles alone. He was a man who loved fiercely, grieved deeply, and carried on through more loss than many could imagine. Those who knew him best understood that behind his rough edges was a person who simply wanted to be loved and understood.

Eddie's story was not one of perfection, but of perseverance, love, loss, and the enduring impact of family. He will be remembered by those who knew his heart and loved him despite his imperfections.

May he finally find the peace that often eluded him in life, reunited in Heaven with his son Branden, his beloved wife Michelle, his mother Vickie, and his father Harvey—the loved ones he missed so deeply and carried in his heart every day.
