“ My memory's of Jim McClure. He gave me my first start in the petroleum industry. I was a young man he taught me everything I know when it came to working. I looked up to him like a father. He was an incredible man. In between working with him he also enjoyed playing pool and pitching quarters in a bucket. I have a lot of great memory's of him. It seems to me he lived a great 73 years. He will be missed by all his family and friends. He may be gone but never forgotten.
