“ you will always be that little girl that wanted to follow your sissy around everywhere I went. so many memories of you when you were little from me having to rub your ear or your shins to get you to go to sleep, to you falling off the side of the steps and getting a big pop knot on your head and trying to bite one of my friends and him moving and you falling through the step rails. I called that boy every name in the book for hurting my baby sister. even though all he did was move. I love you so much Jen and I hope you knew how much I loved you when you were here. I hope you got to give mom the biggest hug because I know how much you have missed her. I will miss you both until I see you again.

“ I can't count the number of times all my girls wanted to spend da night with Jen Jen. We have so many memories as kids growing up. Your presence will be missed by so many. I am just thankful that you got the Thanksgiving and Christmas that you wanted so badly. All of us will take care of Allie and the boys. It's your turn to finally rest and reunite with your momma. I Love you so much and you made me so proud!
