“ To John's family... We are saddened by your loss and will keep you in our prayers.

Years ago, John and I shared many interests. Though we did not always agree, we found time to enjoy our love for horses, Catholicism, and an occasional cold beer!

I credit John for the success I had in business management. He took me under his wing and taught me virtually everything about the food oils industry. We shared common sense reasoning that I carried forward when I changed careers. I am grateful for having known John.

God Bless You!
