“ Joe watched me grow up from birth. He was my grandparents neighbor and he was the best you could have. When my grannie passed away he made sure to keep my papa company until his last days on earth. When my grandfather passed I took over their home in 2019 and Joe then became my neighbor. When Covid hit and laid me off I spent many days passing time talking to him in the front yard or on his front porch talking about anything and everything. He was the best neighbor you could ask for. He always watched over my house when I was not there and would always be there to lend me tools that I didn't have and needed. I will miss seeing him but I know he had now been reunited with my grandparents and uncle and they are already having discussions about the NCAA tournament and Kentucky basketball. Say hi to grannie, papa and Uncle Brent for me. This is not goodbye but I will see you soon on the other side. Get your rest now!
