“ There are no words that can be said in this time to ease the pain you are all going through. Just know our prayers are with each of you through this time of grief.

I cannot help but remember when I turned 18 years of age that Susie called Ray at work and told him to stop and get me something for my birthday. He bought an eight pieces setting of dishes (really nice ones), she started laughing and told him, she didn't even have anything that nice. He gave that sheepish grin, shrugged his shoulders and said "I didn't know what to buy so oh well". I had those dishes until I lost them in our own disaster in 2011.
