“ Tia, where to start... all the memories couldn't compare to having you back with us and my heart is so heavy thinking about them all. I loved watching anything crime related with you, I loved going getting Chinese, to the movies, to everywhere. I loved smoking my little candy cigarettes with you lol. The small things like eating snacks in your bed watching movies. I miss you so much. I know you're at peace now and I know you're longer suffering and that gives me some kind of peace. Tia I will always remember you as one of the strongest, bravest, kindest, most loving, strong willed women to ever exist. I love you Tia may heaven be brighter with your presence ☐

“ Tia, I know you are looking down on us right now... Right beside Grandma and Great Aunt Joyce. I know we do not have as many memories as every else but thank you for always loving me. Thank you for always excepting me for who I was and who I am... I remember when I was in the 7th grade... when you and ET took me to buy clothes from the mall... you treated me just as you treated Beth... with love and understanding for what I was going through at that moment in my life. Even if I didn't always act like it, thank you for always trying to steer me in the right direction. I love you now and I will love you always. Rest easy Tia.
