“ Brandon and Chrissy, I'm so sorry for you both. He loved you both so much. Keith was the proudest dad I've ever known, proud of all of Brandon's accomplishments in life and super proud of his little grandson.

Ever since I've known him he would break down and cry in tears of joy when talking about Brandon. He and Monica did a fabulous job in raising him.

The world is a little less funny today with the loss of Keith, I've never met a funnier, more charming human being in all my life. He was always the life of the party anywhere he went, quick witted, had plenty of one liners and lots of spark.

I have fond memories of his Uncle Ed and Aunt Donna talking about him at the holidays and they'd talk about how hyper and uncontrollable he was as a child and how he'd grown into being a wonderful dad and overall great human being in his adulthood.

They'd laugh about the contrast from his childhood to adulthood and everyone enjoyed hearing the stories as they were quite humorous. The guys he worked with at Universal/G&K Services were crazy about him and nicknamed him Heart Break Kid (HBK for short) because he was so handsome. They all got a big kick out of him in morning meetings.

I just talked to Keith on the phone last week i think it was and he sounded weak but was still cracking jokes and in good spirits, I had no idea the time was this close for him. He took his illness in stride and was shockingly upbeat and never bitter about it, always talked about how blessed he was to have the family and friends he had to see him through it.

I'm really gonna miss Bohnzo, one of my life's longest friends.
