COOMER, Patricia Lisby, 69, of New Salisbury, IN, died March 26, 2013 in the care of Hosparus of Louisville, following treatment for acute myeloid leukemia. “ Pat was part of our "girls' group" during our years at Elizabethtown High School. She was a beautiful person, and I corresponded with her for several years after she retired. I am so saddened to read of her passing, and I send you, her family, my deepest sympathy. Our world is a bit darker today because of the loss of her life. Susan Perry Royster
