“ I have a lifetime of memories, but this one shows how Dad thought about life. I was divorced and wanted to sell my house and move to a one story house. Mom and Dad came down from Louisville and we went house hunting. I found a house I really liked but knew there was no way I could buy it if my house didn't sell. Dad said I should go ahead and get it or someone else might buy it. I was hesitant and Dad said, "Columbus took a chance." I went back in and wrote a check for the deposit. Still living here 33 years later. Brenda Myers Hardcastle

Papaw, was my grandfather-in-law. I always looked up to him because he accomplished so much. Even as just as an inlaw grandson, I miss him and learned a lot from this man.
