“ To all those that loved Shawn you are in my prayers. There will be a lot of different feelings, emotions and emptiness. But with this there will also be remembering the good times, because they define who Shawn really was and where he is. Remember that there are people that truly care about you and your loss and want to help anyway they can. We don't have answers, we may not say the right thing but we do care and your rough times ahead we would be honored to be there for you.
