“ My momma was the best mom ever. I remember she would come down to battletown when we lived there and we would fish and when we was young she would come to the skating rink when she came to pick us up she would get out on the floor and dance with us after we all took off our skate. She was a cool mom too. She was the best mom ever. Love her so much she will never be forgotten. ”

“ Mom ask me to write her memory. My mom was so sick and with no answers so doctor appts after doctor appts. Grandma was there for every single one. She was in the back room when they did the spinal tap to check mom for leukemia which mom did not have so it was test after test. And when you are that sick you just want your mom there so there was just many nights if mom staying at grandma’s house to get that mother

Well that was rude lol. The video finished uploading and ended my comment above lol. So I guess I finish my story here since no edit button. My mom stayed at grandma’s several nights to get that motherly touch that mother’s give when their child is sick. While at Grandma’s, grandma just loved on her and took care of her. The video above shows that gentle touch she had and that she knows when comforting is needed and she did that til the end. Not even one selfish bone in my grandma.

“ I love you grandma! There's already an emptiness in my heart. When I was a kid I couldn't wait for Fridays to come around cause I knew my grandma would be picking me and spending the weekend with her. I love you grandma and you'll always be with me 🥹🥹

I remember all 3 of squeeze in the den floor and making pallet to sleep at grandmas. Well I should say 4 because that was the only time cupcake was allowed to come in the den was to sleep with us. She was the best grandma ever. We always wanted to be around her and not because she was take us to Malibu Jack's or Gatti land like the kids now a days but not was nit what we usually did. She had that fun and loving energy and just want to be around it. The 8 track or the record player playing. Us getting sprayed with a water hose while grandma watered the flowers. Caterpillar at Greenwood boat docks and stopping at Greenwood market to get candy in our paper bags. It was always the little things that grandma did that just us all feel special to her. Her live was so big. I live the pic of you 3 in front of the water fountain.

“ My grandma was so full of life. She would say let’s put on some fufu juice and brush our hair. Most the time she would curl her hair with hot rolls or roll it up and pin it so when she took the pins out she would have curls. Then we would hit the town well pub. She sit me on the bar stool and tell anything you want just tell the guy behind the bar and these gentlemen would pay it lol. Grandma knew everyone there at the pub. She was the life of it. She would dance and take the guys money in pool while watch eating my chips and m&m amd soft drink.
