“ A piece of my heart broke when I heard that Stacey passed away. Stacey was my first born niece, I remember how proud I was to see her for the first time. That pride continued as I watched her grow up and to raise her family. She was proud of her children and even more proud when she became Gigi to the grandchildren. Our world will be a little dimmer without her smile and great sense of humor. The only comfort I have is knowing that family was waiting for to welcome her to heaven.. sending prayers to family and friends.
