“ We extend our arms for comfort for all of you as you deal with another painful loss. Our hearts aches for you since death affects all of us. Although we and others mean well but the true comfort comes from the God of ALL comfort. Please feel his arms around you as you read Isaiah 25:8 and Job 14:14,15. He truly cares about all who are living but especially those we love that we have lost in death. Take care our friends.
