

Wilma Marie Monk

March 22, 1926 - March 19, 2020

Wilma Monk was born March 22, 1926 to Emma Rice and Clyde Minton in Fordsville, Kentucky. She retired after 30 years at the Fashion Shop in Dixie Manor located in Louisville, KY, where she resided for 58 years. She was a member of Hillsdale Baptist Church where she and her husband, William Monk were baptized. Wilma was a member of the Englebert Humperdink fan club of Louisville, and traveled for years with member friends to his many concerts. Wilma was preceded in death by parents, Clyde and Emma Minton; husband, William Monk; sister, Jean Hawn, and many other family members and friends. She leaves behind two daughters, Sandra L. Brown (David), Billie Gail Monk; granddaughter, Kimberly Brooks (Jimmy); great-grandson, Ryne Ray.

Due to the current events surrounding the viral pandemic the Monk family will have a private visitation and service to respect the government guidelines and help reduce the spreading the virus.

“ So sorry to hear this news about Wilma. We worked together at the Fashion Shop for 15 years. Wilma and I always kept in touch after I left the store. We always had a great time at work. We laughed and cried a lot over the years. She was always there when I was struggling thru something. Thank you Wilma for a dear friendship that lasted 36 years. You my friend will be missed. We never hung up the phone without saying we loved each other.....rest in peace Wilma.....love you Beth Stephenson

I just heard that Wilma had gone to be with God. Years ago I was in Fashion Shop looking at night gowns and Wilma saw me and came over to me and introduced herself and ask if she could help me. I told her that I had recently found out that I had cancer and was scheduled for surgery. She saw that I was scared and feared for my life and gave me the sweetest encouragement and told me that she felt I would be fine and she would pray for me. Her words uplifted me and I will always remember her kindness. In recent years we went to the same beauty shop and I don't think she remembered seeing me at Fashion Shop but I told her how much she had lifted my spirit years ago. My sincere sympathy goes to Wilma's family. Keep your precious memories in her heart and Wilma will always be with you!

*Peace and love to each of you,
Sue Johnson*
